

Print Alliance Credit Exchange

A Word from our Members

Like so many credit departments, we were challenged by a lack of industry specific information.

PACE membership has given us immediate access to the shared data of other member firms in the industry. This information allows us to fine tune credit decisions based on real time and industry specific factors.

By accessing their members-only website, goOmega.com provides us quick access to data in a functional and easy to use format. Also, our customized Flash Reports provide us timely notice of events we wish to monitor.

PACE conferences are definitely worth attending. They zero in on subjects and concerns common to all members of the credit group and put you in touch with a great group of like minded professionals.

Overall, the cost to value ratio of PACE is immeasurable. Membership allows you to take an industry specific "pulse" on any shared account at any time it's needed.

PACE membership gives us the confidence that we're making the best credit decisions for our company.

Effective credit management is all about making good decisions. And the key to making those decisions, of course, is having the best information available.

Credit references provided by customers are not always reliable. That's why PACE membership has been so valuable to us. Information obtained from PACE members is accurate, relevant, and reliable. Because PACE helps us make better credit decisions, we're less likely to have slow payers and write offs.
